

The Bobby McGee's
New 7" single
A: L.O.V.E
AA: Go Tiger Go!
B: Harold & Maude
Out Mon 25th May
On Twee as Fuck Records

Twee as Fuck are pleased as punch to announce their second ever 7" single release by the inimitable tweecore heroes THE BOBBY MCGEE'S! Featuring three upbeat yet tender tracks from The Bobby McGee's upcoming album L'Appropriation Bourgeoisie De La Bobby McGee's (out 29th June on Cherryade Records) and with specially commissioned artwork from resident Twee as Fuck illustrator Laura Bell, this is a limited 7" vinyl release not to be missed! The tracks all contain unforgettable melodies and touch on the pertinent subjects of love and tigers. Harold & Maude is about that favourite Bobby McGee's topic; the thin line between friendship and romantic love.

The Bobby McGee's are a band like no other. Formed by a Scottish emigre to Brighton Jimmy where he was joined by a tender-voiced Eleanor and a classically trained jazz musician Graeme, the group has been described as "Dostoyevsky Doing Skiffle!" by Everett True (for Plan B) and likened to "a domestic in a Glasgow boozery, but with ukuleles" (Rory Mackie, Clash Magazine). Their live shows involve full stage make-up, candy bombs and a hell of a lot of swearing. Their songs are at once tender, angry and hilarious; a combination that has won them celebrity fans from Jarvis Cocker to Fatboy Slim and a commission for a Film Four advert. Always the pioneers of the do-it-yourself ethic, they have built their own recording studio (the walls, the roof, everything!) and have inspired a whole new generation of bands to follow in their wake; picking up acoustic instruments and setting up bands their own way. The Los Campesinos! song 'International Tweecore Underground' was written in their honour.

The Bobby McGee's line up consists of:

J C 'Jimmy' McGee - vocals, ukulele, glock, beards....

Eleanor 'bambi' McGee - vocals, banjo and ukulele, glock, melodica, recorder, bespoke clothing....

Becca 'parp' McGee - tenor and soprano Saxophone, glock, saw, melodica, recorder, jazz wigouts....

GG (Graeme) 'testarossa' McGee - Bass and Drum, tape echo, the rest....

The single will be available on Monday 25th May from all good independent record stores and online at www.tweeasfuck.com.
RRP £3.50
